Dear 2024 School of Education Graduates,

Congratulations on your outstanding achievement! On behalf of our faculty and staff, it is my privilege to express our pride in your accomplishments and to recognize you as School of Education graduates.

Your graduation marks the culmination of years of hard work, dedication, and perseverance in earning your academic credentials from one of the programs at the UVU School of Education. We are delighted to celebrate you and the successful completion of your studies. With determination and persistence, you built essential academic and professional competencies, knowledge, and skills while preparing to apply your learning and continue to grow in your field.

Your graduation highlights your exemplary ability to set and achieve your goals. Your passion for learning and your unwavering commitment to excellence will serve as guides in your future endeavors.

You have chosen a pathway full of opportunities to positively impact individuals, communities, academic fields, and industries, and we wish you success and new achievements.

You are now UVU alumni. Stay connected with us as members of our large community of students, graduates, faculty, staff, collaborators, and supporters while also serving as ambassadors for UVU and our School of Education!

Congratulations, School of Education graduates! May your journey be filled with countless moments of success, fulfillment, and new opportunities to continue reaching your goals!

Sincerely,

Dr. Vessela Ilieva

AMBERLY NIELSEN

Bachelor Valedictorian

Bachelor of Science, Special Education

Amberly Nielsen is from Spanish Fork, Utah, and attended Maple Mountain High School before enrolling at UVU. During her time at UVU, Nielsen represented the Special Education department as the representative for the UVUSA Student Chapter of the Council for Exceptional Children while maintaining a 4.0 GPA. After graduation, she plans to work with the Nebo School District in an initial skills kindergarten classroom and earn a master's degree at UVU to become a board-certified behavior analyst and certified school psychologist. Ultimately, she hopes to be a district-level behavior consultant and school psychologist. She enjoys traveling, reading, and spending time outdoors.

TREVAN CAMOMILE

Associate Valedictorian

Associate of Science, University Studies

Trevan Camomile hails from Cedar Hills, Utah, and attended American Fork High School. He is a digital marketer at Infogenix and a freelance music composer with more than 120 five-star ratings. Camomile was awarded a Presidential Scholarship and credited his time at UVU as a “great transformational experience into adulthood.” He plans to continue his education at UVU, aiming for a bachelor's in digital marketing. Ultimately, Camomile plans to be an entrepreneur, utilizing his marketing and creativity skills while awhile potentially earning an MBA. His hobbies include drawing, writing, programming, gaming, and armchair philosophy. He has two younger siblings and credits everything to his loving parents.

JULIA DE SANTIAGO

Graduate Speaker for the School of Education

Master of Education Teacher Leadership

Julia De Santiago is from Lyman, Wyoming, and has spent the last seven years honing her passion for education and student success. As the first-generation program coordinator, she served, mentored, and supported UVU students with culturally appropriate resources. She has excelled in collaborating closely with organizations such as the Undocumented Student Task Force, the Black, Indigenous, and Women of Color Affinity Group, and the Utah Women of Higher Education Network. De Santiago expressed deep gratitude to her parents and husband for their unwavering support, selfless sacrifices, and boundless love, which have been pillars of strength throughout her educational journey.
