2012 National Conference on Trusteeship

April 22-24, 2012
Gaylord National Hotel (Washington DC)
201 Waterfront Street
National Harbor, MD  20745

The 2012 National Conference on Trusteeship will look at the big ideas that are transforming higher education and the role governing boards, together with institutional leaders, play in that transformation. Plenary speakers include, among others, Clay Christensen, author of The Innovative University, and Richard Arum, author of Academically Adrift. The only national gathering designed specifically for higher education boards and institutional leaders, the conference focuses on governance-related issues and provides opportunities to learn best practices, hear how other boards are addressing challenges, interact with board members and leaders from across higher education, and hear from internationally recognized thought leaders.

Early registration ends February 3, 2012
Discount for 3 or more attending
All expenses paid by UVU