

DESTINATION YOU

UTAH VALLEY STATE SUMMER UNIVERSITY 06

MAY 9 - 11

MAY 9 - 11

SUMMER
UNIVERSITY
CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Message from the President

Welcome to Summer University 2006: Destination You! This annual event is dedicated to providing you opportunities for personal and professional development. I hope you take advantage of this event and attend the keynote addresses and as many breakout sessions as possible.

This year's theme, Destination You, has a double meaning. First, we want to help "you" find meaning and satisfaction in your UVSC role. We need to keep our focus on building our institutional culture of learning, giving, and individual growth, one student at a time. Second, we are beginning the public dialogue about university status and need to better understand the internal processes, systems and offerings that need to be refined, expanded and created to ensure our quality educational and professional experience for our students and employees is maintained.

This year the SU Planning Committee has expanded the offerings of Summer University by adding pre and post activities. Thank you for your response to these events: the Heber Valley Railroad ride and the employee golf tournament. Thank you to the SU Planning Committee and other volunteers who brought forth these ideas to enrich the Summer University experience.

I am confident that you will have a meaningful experience attending Summer University 2006: Destination You! Please take a moment and thank members of the SU Planning Committee and those who will be sharing their expertise in the breakout sessions. Finally, I thank you for your involvement and I hope you will enjoy this year's Summer University...I know I will!

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "William A. Sederburg". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a long horizontal stroke at the end.

William A. Sederburg
President, Utah Valley State College

Keynote Speakers

Tuesday, May 9, 2006

Mario R. Capecchi was born in Verona, Italy in 1937. He received his B.S. in chemistry and physics from Antioch College in 1961 and his Ph.D. in biophysics from Harvard University in 1967. He completed his thesis work under the guidance of Dr. James D. Watson. From 1967-69 he was a Junior Fellow of the Society of Fellows at Harvard University. In 1969 he became an Assistant Professor in the Department of Biochemistry, Harvard School of Medicine and was promoted to Associate Professor in 1971. In 1973 he joined the faculty at the University of Utah as a Professor of Biology. Since 1988 Dr. Capecchi has been an investigator of the Howard Hughes Medical Institute; since 1989, a Professor of Human Genetics at the University of Utah School Of Medicine; and since 1993, Distinguished Professor of Human Genetics and Biology. He is also co-chairman of the Department of Human Genetics.

Dr. Capecchi is best known for pioneering the technology of gene targeting in mouse embryo-derived stem (ES) cells that allows scientists to create mice with mutations in any desired gene by choosing which gene to mutate and how to mutate it. Research interests include the molecular genetic analysis of early mouse development, neural development in mammals, production of murine models of human genetic diseases, cancer and factors affecting life expectancy, homologous recombination and programmed genomic rearrangements in the mouse.

Dr. Capecchi is a member of the National Academy of Sciences (1991) and the European Academy of Sciences (2002). His prestigious awards include the Bristol-Myers Squibb Award (1992), Gairdner Foundation International Award (1993), General Motors Corporation's Alfred P. Sloan Jr. Prize (1994), German Molecular Bioanalytics Prize, (1996), Kyoto Prize in Basic Sciences (1996), Baxter Award for Distinguished Research in the Biomedical Sciences (1998), Colby Presidential Endowed Chair (1999), Italian Premio Phoenix-Anni Verdi Award (2000), Spanish Jiménez-Díaz Prize (2001), Albert Lasker Award (2001), National Medal of Science (2001), John Scott Medal Award (2002), Massry Prize (2002), Pezcoller Foundation-AACR International Award for Cancer Research (2003), Wolf Prize in Medicine (2002/03) and March of Dimes Prize in Developmental Biology (2005).

Wednesday, May 10, 2006

Mette Norgaard, Ph.D., MBA, is the author of the international bestseller The Ugly Duckling Goes to Work: Wisdom for the Workplace from the classic tales of Hans Christian Andersen. Norgaard uses timeless stories to help audiences understand human nature (warts and all), and the human potential. She shows employees at all levels how they can be more authentic and alive in their work, how they create a real work LIFE! Norgaard inspires people to talk about how they can co-create a vibrant work place, one where each person can contribute their best thinking, best energy, and best performance.

Dr. Norgaard is an international leadership consultant. For 10 years she served as a senior consultant for The FranklinCovey Co., where she directed their one-week executive retreat, hosted executive dialogues, and helped thousands of leaders become more principle-centered in their work. Norgaard also knows what it is like to be a line leader, having worked as a product manager for a multinational company and a director of a medical therapy unit.

Norgaard's clients include senior-level leaders from small entrepreneurial companies, family businesses, and brand-name organizations such as Microsoft, General Electric, Proctor & Gamble, Johnson & Johnson, Esté Lauder, Harley-Davidson, Hard Rock Café, John Hopkins Hospital, Hospital for Special Surgery, Ohio State University, The US Navy, The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and The Royal Danish Theatre. In addition to years of practical experience, Mette Norgaard's background includes a Ph.D. in human and organizational systems, a master's degree in business, a master's degree in human and organizational development, and a bachelor's degree in physical therapy.

Although she is a native of Denmark, she now resides in New York City, NY, and travels all over the world delivering her message that we can all be more authentic and alive in our work.
