Frequently Asked Questions:

➤ What are merchant fees and how do they work?

Credit card companies charge stores and businesses, who accept credit card payments, a merchant fee of approximately two to five percent. Those who accept credit cards have to set their prices accordingly to pay for this cost. As an institution of higher education, UVSC does not raise tuition to cover these costs like a retail store would.

➤ Why can't you take my VISA?

Each major credit card issuer sets its own rules associated with their merchant fees. VISA's rules will not allow a percentage convenience fee.

➤ I only have a VISA credit card to pay with. What can I do now?

You have the following possibilities depending on your VISA credit card.

- Get a cash advance at a bank teller window or ATM and use that to pay part or all of your tuition.
- Get a different credit card (American Express, MasterCard, or Discover).
- Use credit card convenience checks or line of credit loans.
