This panel provides attendees with the opportunity to hear the latest statistics about how we are doing at Utah Valley University in terms of recruiting, retaining, and graduating female students (we still have work to do). Panelists will also discuss new programs and resources available to female students that have been strategically designed to help them better engage and to find the support needed to continue through graduation. Finally, based on the research, tips will be provided to faculty and staff on what we can do (without a lot of extra time) to help our female students better understand why they should complete their degrees and become more motivated to do just that!

Come and join us! Please RSVP.
