2023-24 Annual Report Shows UVU's Impact

We're excited to share that UVU's 2023-2024 Annual Report is now live! With the theme "A Place for Impact," this report celebrates the incredible strides we've made in student success, community outreach, and institutional growth. None of this would be possible without the dedication and hard work of our amazing faculty and staff. We invite you to explore the report to see UVU's remarkable impact over the past year.

Thank you for helping make UVU a place where students can better their lives and positively impact their communities!

Faculty Development Updates

As you're all aware, per HB 438, this is the first year that faculty will engage in post-tenure review (PTR). For those who will go through PTR this cycle, workflows will open in Faculty Success on December 1. The deans thankfully opted to keep the process and workflow very simple. Each of your deans has a PDF copy of what the workflow will look like. If you would like to see the workflow, I encourage you to reach out to them for a copy.

Fulton Library October Update

Fulton Library's subject librarians offer information literacy instruction in a variety of modalities. We offer in-person assistance at our Research Help Desk and can help develop a research question, plan search strategies, locate articles and books, and more! Librarians are also available by phone (801) 863-8840, text (801) 290-8123, chat, email, or appointment. Additionally, we offer online tutorials and research guides to teach students the skills they'll need to excel in research.

With final assignments and research deadlines just around the corner, take a look at your classroom—are your students struggling to find sources and complete research assignments? The ability to access, evaluate, and use credible information is crucial to academic and professional success. Fulton Library's online research guides and subject librarian experts can help your students have a solid information-literacy skillset to effectively tackle their courses and research assignments.

Faculty Footnotes: Helping Students Understand the Complexities of the Human Experience

UVU Associate Communications Professor Dr. Stevie Munz is bringing the spirit of the vast human experience into her classroom. From flip books to on-stage performances, Professor Munz is open to any way students can imagine to catch a glimpse of their unique experiences and how those translate to their understanding of classroom subjects.
