BIO:

Michele Reyes is a mother, professional photographer, Navajo weaver, nationally-recognized designer and Maskcara makeup artist.

Raised in northeastern Arizona, in the heart of the Navajo Nation, Michele developed a strong sense of connection to her Native American heritage and family. These connections led to her baccalaureate degree in Marriage, Family, and Human Development and the pursuit of her Master’s degree in Family Life Education. She volunteers as the Vice Chair and Weaving instructor for the Title Seven Native American program for the Alpine School District.

Michele's passions lie in raising her 7 children with her husband, Kyle, and working on creative projects that allow her to connect with and enrich the lives of others. Michele documents the intersection of her creative passions through Instagram.
