Course Assignments, Assessments, and Grading Policy

Project 1 – Halloween Poem - Illustrate a frightening narrative based on the George Gordon Byron (Lord Byron) poem, The Gaiour [Unquenched, unquenchable]. Having a vampire, this illustration could be suitable for the Halloween season.

Project 2 – Myth – For this project you will illustrate one of the twelve labors (conflicts) of Hercules. The Labors of Hercules are a series of episodes concerning a penance carried out by Heracles, the greatest of the Greek heroes, whose name was later Romanized as Hercules. They were accomplished at the service of King Eurystheus.

Project 3 – Illustrate a Historical Event

Project 4 – Illustrate a Stave from the story A Christmas Carol, by Dickens

Introduction

Provides experiences in creating mood through visual elements and controlling the pictorial space. Emphasizes composition, creativity and technical ability. Addresses narrative illustration and visual storytelling.

Grading Policy

1. Late work will not be accepted for grading
2. Deadlines for each assignment are given when projects are discussed. If work is not finished and turned in on the deadline you will not receive full credit for that assignment.
3. A 5 point deduction is assessed for every day a project is late.
4. Completed homework projects are due at the beginning of the class period on the date defined in the course calendar. The beginning of the class period is defined as when the role is taken—after that time, work has missed the deadline and cannot be accepted for grading. All project due dates can be found on Canvas.
5. Knowing that sometimes there are problems beyond your control or your instructor may require changes that will delay the completion of your project; an extension of the deadline requires instructor approval in advance.
6. Projects must be finished on the due date and uploaded to Canvas. Projects are graded by the instructor with notes on how to improve your piece.

If you would like to improve your score, respond to the critique and rework your illustration, then resubmit to Canvas. This mirrors a real workplace experience. Clients often ask for improvements and changes to finished pieces. Written critiques are not supplied unless you miss the Critique Day due to excused absence.

Grading on assignments is based on the student's ability to demonstrate the criteria listed in each project grading rubric.

Each project is divided into two parts. 1. Preliminary work, including thumbnail sketches, comprehensive sketches, etc. These items are graded and worth 20 points each. 2. Completed projects are submitted and worth 100 points.

Any project may be reworked for a higher score. Exercises are not available for reworking. All reworked projects must be completed and turned in the last week of class.

Generative AI

AI programs are not a replacement for your human creativity, originality, and critical thinking. Drawing, painting, thinking, ideating, and researching are crafts that you must develop over time to develop your voice. At the same time, you should learn how to use AI and in what instances AI can be helpful to you.

The use of generative AI tools (e.g. ChatGPT, Google Bard, Dall-e, etc.) is permitted in this course for the following activities:

- Brainstorming and refining your ideas;
- Finding information on your topic;
- Organizing your thoughts

The use of generative AI tools is not permitted in this course for the following activities:

- Impersonating you in classroom contexts, such as by using the tool to compose discussion board prompts/responses assigned to you or content that you put into a Teams/Canvas chat.

- Completing work that has been assigned to you.
- Composing, drawing, or digitally painting entire parts of your project including thumbnail sketches, comp sketches, or completed work.

You are responsible for the information and creative output you submit based on any AI query (for instance, that it does not violate intellectual property laws, or contain misinformation or unethical content). Your use of AI tools must be properly documented and cited to stay within university policies on academic honesty.

Any student work submitted using AI tools should indicate what work is the student's work and what part is generated by the AI. In such cases, no more than 25% of the student work should be generated by AI. If any part of this is confusing or uncertain, please reach out to me for a conversation before submitting.

Using Remote Testing Software

☒ This course does not use remote testing software.

☐ This course uses remote testing software. Remote test-takers may choose their remote testing locations. Please note, however, that the testing software used for this may conduct a brief scan of remote test-takers' immediate surroundings, may require use of a webcam while taking an exam, may require the microphone be on while taking an exam, or may require other practices to confirm academic honesty. Test-takers therefore shall have no expectation of privacy in their test-taking location during, or immediately preceding, remote testing. If a student strongly objects to using test-taking software, the student should contact the instructor at the beginning of the semester to determine whether alternative testing arrangements are feasible. Alternatives are not guaranteed.

Accommodations/Students with Disabilities

Students needing accommodations due to a permanent or temporary disability, pregnancy or pregnancy-related conditions may contact UVU Accessibility Services at accessibilityservices@uvu.edu or 801-863-8747.

Accessibility Services is located on the Orem Campus in BA 110.

Deaf/Hard of Hearing students requesting ASL interpreters or transcribers can contact Accessibility Services to set up accommodations. Deaf/Hard of Hearing services can be contacted at DHHservices@uvu.edu

DHH is located on the Orem Campus in BA 112.

Academic Integrity

At Utah Valley University, faculty and students operate in an atmosphere of mutual trust. Maintaining an atmosphere of academic integrity allows for free exchange of ideas and enables all members of the community to achieve their highest potential. Our goal is to foster an intellectual atmosphere that produces scholars of integrity and imaginative thought. In all academic work, the ideas and contributions of others must be appropriately acknowledged and UVU students are expected to produce their own original academic work.

Faculty and students share the responsibility of ensuring the honesty and fairness of the intellectual environment at UVU. Students have a responsibility to promote academic integrity at the university by not participating in or facilitating others' participation in any act of academic dishonesty. As members of the academic community, students must become familiar with their rights and responsibilities. In each course, they are responsible for knowing the requirements and restrictions regarding research and writing, assessments, collaborative work, the use of study aids, the appropriateness of assistance, and other issues. Likewise, instructors are responsible to clearly state expectations and model best practices.

Further information on what constitutes academic dishonesty is detailed in UVU Policy 541: Student Code of Conduct.

Equity and Title IX

Utah Valley University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age (40 and over), disability, veteran status, pregnancy, childbirth, or pregnancy-related conditions, citizenship, genetic information, or other basis protected by applicable law, including Title IX and 34 C.F.R. Part 106, in employment, treatment, admission, access to educational programs and activities, or other University benefits or services. Inquiries about nondiscrimination at UVU may be directed to the U.S. Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights or UVU's Title IX Coordinator at 801-863-7999 – TitleIX@uvu.edu – 800 W University Pkwy, Orem, 84058, Suite BA 203.

Religious Accommodation

UVU values and acknowledges the array of worldviews, faiths, and religions represented in our student body, and as such provides supportive accommodations for students. Religious belief or conscience broadly includes religious, non-religious, theistic, or non-theistic moral or ethical beliefs as well as participation in religious holidays, observances, or activities. Accommodations may include scheduling or due-date modifications or make-up assignments for missed class work.

To seek a religious accommodation, a student must provide written notice to the instructor and the Director of Accessibility Services at accessibilityservices@uvu.edu. If the accommodation relates to a scheduling conflict, the notice should include the date, time, and brief description of the difficulty posed by the conflict. Such requests should be made as soon as the student is aware of the prospective scheduling conflict.

While religious expression is welcome throughout campus, UVU also has a specially dedicated space for meditation, prayer, reflection, or other forms of religious expression.
