

COURSE DESCRIPTION

As a student, you are responsible for double-checking your enrollment status and current address, phone numbers, and email addresses. This will help ensure that you will receive all information pertaining to the class for which you are enrolled. If your supervisor has enrolled/nominated you, it's critical that you double-check your enrollment status.

Firefighter Financial Wellness

Description

This is a financial wellness course that teaches sound financial principles and financial health practices to educate fire and EMS providers about obtaining wealth and having a financially successful retirement. Designed for career and volunteer firefighters alike, this course teaches how to be financially wise! The course covers debt management principles and discusses options for building retirement savings. It also covers estate planning and how to set yourself and your family up for financial success should the worst happen. The course covers each of these principles in detail, and attendees will leave with financial tools to help them better plan their retirement and manage and use their money more wisely. The information provided is for information and education only and should not be considered personal financial advice. Those presenting the course will not address individual attendees' situations and do not intend to be attendees' fiduciary provider during this course.

Objectives

- To prepare firefighters to become financially independent.
- Understand options available to firefighters.

Target Group

Recommended training for any firefighter.

Prerequisite Qualifications and Training

- None

Delivery

Firefighter Financial Wellness is available as classroom instructor-led training.