

Nicholas Bradley

Nicholas Bradley was born in Maryland but have spent most of his life in Utah. Over the past year he has served as president of the Cybersecurity Club at Utah Valley University. He is passionate about providing humanitarian aid, protection, and education for others. His goals include creating ethical standards for emerging technologies, assisting countries in developing sustainable infrastructure, and creating an environment conducive to human rights and open trade. To better improve himself to achieve these goals, he is pursuing a degree in cybersecurity.
