

Alexander Woltjen

Alexander Woltjen is a talented UVU student working towards a bachelors in Political science and a minor in language focusing on Russian and Spanish. He is a full-time Salt Lake City based stock broker and previously has worked as a missionary in South Korea, an English teacher in Taiwan and has worked in California's prison system. Alexander has an obsession with language and has learned Spanish, German, Korean and Mandarin and has also taken advantage of the U.S. Russia Foundation grant to take accelerated Russian courses offered by UVU's specialized faculty. Alexander also is a student of UVU's Open Source Intelligence Center, where he collects information on suspects for the Tooele Sheriff's department, located outside of Salt Lake City, using techniques taught by faculty with experience in the U.S. intelligence community. He looks forward to using his expertise in government work to help promote freedom and democracy.
