

Kits for the Needy

On October 13th, 2025, I found myself and a handful of students at UVU campus, far later than I was used to being there. Early in the semester we were told we could sign up for activities that would happen in the middle of October, through that felt so far away at the time. We were given the opportunity to help Tabitha's way in their annual hygiene kit project. Through this project we were able to put tother a few dozen care packages that will go to individuals and families in need in Utah. Within the packages there were a few everyday items most people take for granted. A hairbrush, shampoo, razors and shaving cream just to name a few.

Nicholas Robinson with assembled kit

There was calmness in the room, everyone was ready to get to work. Going down the line, each student carefully picked up each item and neatly put them in their bag. Shampoo? Check Conditioner? Check. Hairbrush, deodorant, wash cloth? Check, Check, Check. By the end there were at least 30 or so bags filled to the brim with necessities. That's 30 separate people that would receive these items. 30 people that before given these things were begging for some sort of help.

Group photo after the event

I really enjoyed this project, this year will be my second time being able to help throw these bags together for needy individuals. Knowing I helped someone get these necessary items brings me immeasurable warmth, that I can't seem to find anywhere else.

Thank you Dr. Baktybek for bringing us closer to Tabitha's way!

Nicholas Robinson, Utah Valley University