

Building Hygiene Kits

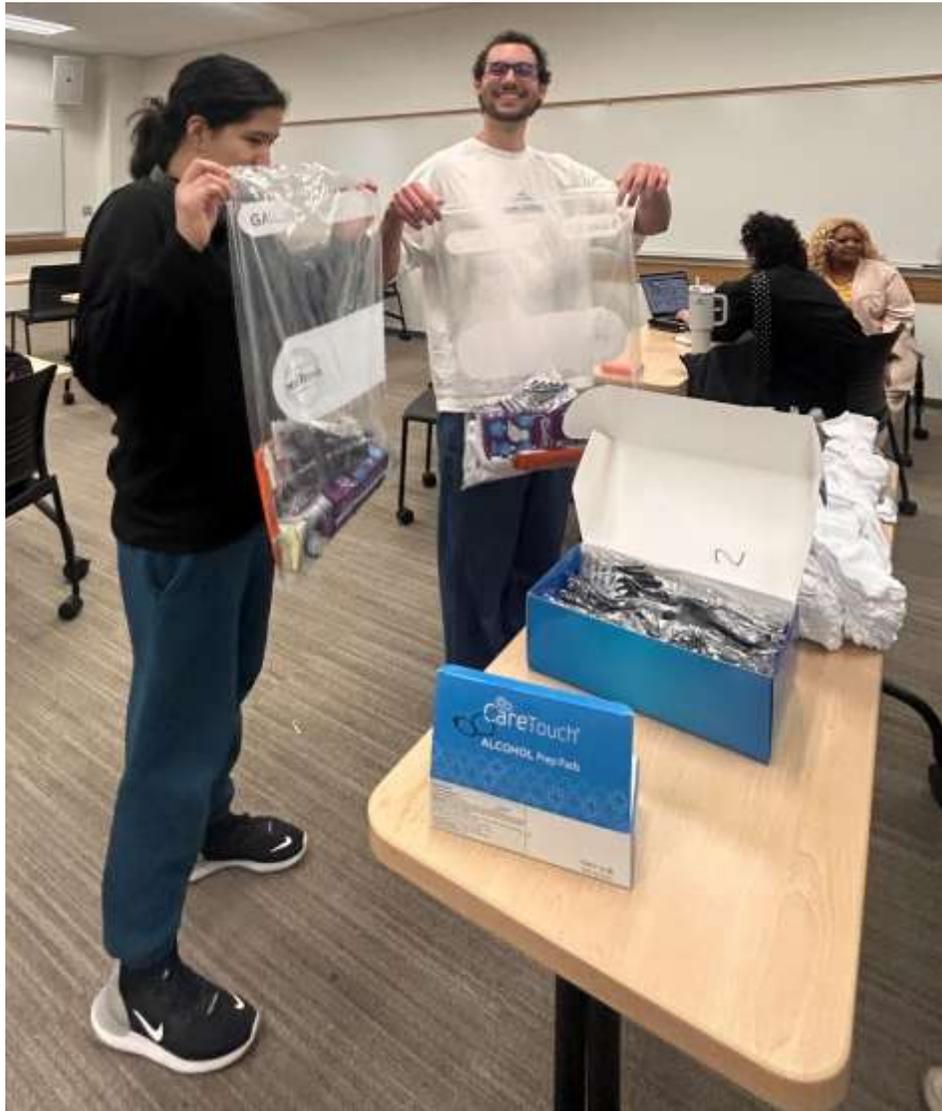

On Tuesday January 20th 2026, at 6 pm in the Clarke Building at Utah Valley University (UVU) a conglomeration of the Utah International Mountain Forum, a coalition of student clubs at UVU, UVU's rotary club, and the Foreign Affairs club at UVU got together to put together hygiene kits to be taken to shelters to distribute to those in need.

Pictured are some participating members, Natalia Figueroa, Domenic Callor, Janessa-Michelle Purcell, Abbie Fisher, Alley Holt, and Erynn Lammi. This was a great opportunity to be reminded that many everyday items we use are not accessible to all people. We take for granted a lot of what keeps us clean in our daily routines like toothbrushes, soap, socks, razors, and even towels. All of these were put in the kits along with combs and disinfecting wipes with half of the kits receiving feminine products.

With so many clubs working together this service project was a great opportunity for many different students from different academic tracts to come together and work on giving back to the community in what may seem like a small way to us but could mean quite a lot to those who are in need of items like these. This event exemplified the student engaged learning model as it brought students together and got us engaged in a firsthand experience of giving back.

I personally feel much more appreciative of what I have in my own life and am so grateful for this opportunity to provide these items and serve our community in any capacity. I hope that our contribution will go to those that have been searching for hygiene options and that they can be used to help community members keep themselves clean and healthy.
