Colleagues,

I have five women and leadership announcements today:

First, the Journal of Leadership Studies just published a symposium section with 5 papers around the topic of “Women and Leadership—How Do Differences Matter?” (Editors: Lynne E. Devnew & Julia Storberg-Walker). There are articles on relational responsibility as a motivator for women to lead, exploring a more inclusive understanding of women of color, the problem of gender essentialism, and unconscious gender bias.

Second, a doctoral candidate at Azusa Pacific University is seeking to confidentially interview Black/ African-American women administrators in 4-year public, private, or religiously affiliated institutions in the United States (whose titles are Provost, Vice President, Vice Chancellor, Chancellor, or President) regarding their leadership journey and well-being. If you or someone you know is interested in participating in this study, please email klindsey12@apu.edu.

Third, here are a number of new publications that you may appreciate:

- Women's Leadership Journeys: Stories, Research, and Novel Perspectives (Routledge, Book Editors: Sherylle J. Tan & Lisa DeFrank-Cole)
- The Business Case for Women Leaders: Meta-Analysis, Research Critique, and Path Forward (Journal of Management: Jenny M. Hoobler, Courtney R. Masterson, Stella M. Nkomo, Eric J. Michel)
- Fix the Game, Not the Dame: Restoring Equity in Leadership Evaluations (Journal of Business Ethics: Jamie Gloor, Manuela Morf, Samantha Paustian-Underdahl, & Uschi Backes-Gellner)
- The Gender Wage Gap: Extent, Trends, and Explanations (Journal of Economic Literature: Francine D. Blau & Lawrence M. Kahn)
- A Perspective on Gender in Management: The Need for Strategic Cross-cultural Scholarship on Women in Management and Leadership (Cross Cultural & Strategic Management, my own article—just received a recognition so it has free access at the moment)

Fourth, if you plan on attending the International Leadership Association’s annual global conference in October, keep in mind a few opportunities: 1) Preconference (Oct. 24): Leading Public Policy Change Through Women and Leadership Research and 2) The Ninth Annual Women and Leadership Affinity Group Luncheon (Oct. 26). Also, a group of us are facilitating an Academy of Management PDW session called “The Power of Words: Women and Leadership Scholars: Leading Public Policy Change”; the link takes you to the general page, choose the “Browse Sessions” tab, type in “women,” and you’ll see our session and many others as well.

Finally, I have started posting LinkedIn articles that provide my takeaways from interesting scholarly pieces. Check out the following: Women and Bragging: Facilitating Women’s Self-Promotion; Gender Differences in Speaking Up and Using Voice; Strengthening Women’s Leadership Identity: Part I; and Strengthening Women’s Leadership Identity: Part II.

Send me any announcements you may have, particularly related to calls for relevant special journal issues, book chapters, conferences, and so forth. Have a great month!

Best,
Susan
