May 5, 2020

Colleagues,

I hope you are all staying healthy. The Utah Women & Leadership Project (UWLP) team is pleased to announce the following reports, events, and resources for May:

First, we are releasing a new research and policy brief titled “The Status of Women and Entrepreneurship in Utah: A 2020 Update” (the initial brief was released in 2016). Thanks to Dr. April Townsend and Ann Marie Wallace for their work and co-authorship, as well as the following generous supporters: Jacquelyn and Gregory Zehner Foundation, Utah Valley Business Resource Center, and Woodbury School of Business at UVU. All of the UWLP research on a variety of topics can be found here.

Second, we have a few resources to highlight this month:

- New Infographic: Women & Finances: What Utahns Need to Know

Third, find details on these two upcoming online events from our collaborators:

- May 7: Resources for Women-Owned Businesses to Overcome COVID-19 Economic Challenges (World Trade Center Utah, Webinar, 10:00 AM)
- May 14: Sex, Gender and Women’s Health Across the Lifespan (University of Utah Health, Virtual Symposium, 1:00 – 5:00 PM)

Finally, check out the following editorials, articles, and podcasts from April:

- Guest Editorial: Each of Us Has a Chance to Be the Helper (The Salt Lake Tribune)
- Guest Opinion: Working From Home is a Disruption Worth Embracing (Deseret News)
- How Can We Facilitate Growth During Turbulent Times? Create Forgiving Cultures (Forbes)
- Strengthen Your Growth Mindset: Using this Uncertain Time for Learning (LinkedIn)
- Women Should Know How to Manage Their Own Finances: Report Says (The Salt Lake Tribune)
- Helping Women to See Themselves as Leaders (Leading Saints Podcast)

Join us on the UWLP social media platforms: LinkedIn, Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and YouTube. See the community calendar as well. Email uwlp@uvu.edu to let us know you want to receive these updates to your inbox. Stay safe and healthy this month!
