OVERVIEW
Substance use disorders have reached crisis levels among Utah women.

HOW DOES UTAH STACK UP?
Substance use overdoses and disorder treatment vary according to age and race.

DEMOGRAPHICS
Substance use disorders and treatment vary by socio-economic status.

Utah substance use rankings vary according to drug type.

Substance use disorders have reached crisis levels among Utah women.

*Private treatment is not included in these statistics.

Substance use disorders cause 40% of deaths among those with substance abuse disorders.

Women are more likely to be prescribed opioids.

Women can develop addictions more quickly than men.

Various stakeholders can work to reduce substance use disorders in Utah.

Opioids During Pregnancy
7.7% of newborns in Utah were exposed to one or more substances in 2012.

Substance use disorders have been a cause of death in pregnancy-related cases in recent years.

Public agencies can educate on dangers of substance use.

Health professionals can reduce prescription rates.

Law enforcement should include rehabilitation support.

Courts can require mental health and social services.

WHAT CAN WE DO?